CHINA AVIATION SUPPLIES IMP.&EXP.GROUP CORPORATION

May 2007

On behalf of China Aviation Supplies Imp. & Exp. Group Corporation (CASGC), in conjunction with the Civil Aviation Administration of China (CAAC), it gives us a great pleasure to welcome the Inter airport China exhibition to Beijing on 2 – 4 December, 2008.

Inter airport China 2008 will take place very much in the context of the expanding range of new airport infrastructure developments to be planned to accommodate the huge demand in the Chinese aviation industry. According to CAAC, some 30 airport development projects are on the priority list for CAAC in the year 2007, which further proves that significant tenders for the full range of airport equipment, both terminal and ground support will be underway with more in the pipeline.

The CAAC has sanctioned CASGC involvement and agreed to be a supporter of the inter airport China 2008. CASGC is a comprehensive service and logistics provider mainly engaged in the import and export of civil aviation supplies. Its business scope includes: the import, export, and leasing of aircraft, engines, aviation supplies, various equipment and special vehicles; the repair and consignment of aircraft and engine parts; and the import and export of various industrial products and raw materials related to civil aviation. The company is also involved in tendering and bidding, domestic and foreign investment and financing, technical consulting, training, exhibition, flight demonstration organization, joint venture operation, cooperative production, processing trade and other forms of foreign trade. The AVITEC – China Civil Aviation Technology & Equipment Co. Ltd., a subsidiary of CASGC, is a comprehensive service provider specializing in the tendering of aviation equipment as well as import and export. Its main businesses focus on domestic and international tendering of special equipment for airport, ATC authorities and aviation carriers, import & export, leasing and maintenance.

We will be working closely with CAAC, our supporters and media partners etc to ensure that all end-users from such areas as airfield construction and installation, ground support equipment and services, technical systems, terminal interiors, baggage transportation, cargo handling systems, passenger transportation, maintenance, airfield service equipment, waste management, air traffic equipment, Information technology (IT)/Software, etc, to visit the exhibition.

Exhibiting at inter airport China 2008 is the only way to gain unparalleled access to the airport industry in the fast-growing aviation market in China.

We cordially invite you to participate in inter airport China 2008 as an exhibitor or visitor.
